Ellen LaPointe Fontaine and Sienna Fontaine - Juxtaposition of Place

Mother and daughter artists, Ellen LaPointe Fontaine and Sienna Fontaine respectively showcase a juxtaposition of painted renderings of place at the Vintage Inspired Gallery on Flynn Avenue throughout October. The collection of watercolor and acrylic works exhibits various Vermont symbols and spaces. The essence and vibrancy of the Green Mountains is displayed alongside the quirkiness and energy of Church Street. View the realistic representations by Ellen paired with the simplified expressionistic work of Sienna for a complete aesthetic experience.

Sienna Fontaine is a young Vermont-born artist who grew alongside her mother's painting practice. Ellen LaPointe Fontaine established a painting and jewelry making art while also maintaining a small family dairy farm years ago. Both of their works have been displayed throughout the state of Vermont and have sold to various collectors throughout North America. Varying from the realistic and representational images of farm animals, the Vermont life, and people, Ellen's paintings act as the reference point for Sienna's expressions of in the moment creations and loose line work. With explorations in acrylic, watercolor, and various mixed media, both women use the art of creating as part sanity and therapy and part memoir of the nostalgic Vermont quintessence.
