Renée Savoie of Peaberry Designs is a self-taught mixed media artist from Canada's capital region. Renee has been creative for as long as she can remember but once she discovered the world of mixed media she knew she had found her bliss. She has lived in different places around the world but no place has been as influential on her creativity as her time spent in the Canadian North. A huge fan of all things vintage, she combines previously loved items with her love of texture, paper and paint to make things with depth and character. Renee loves to experiment, constantly trying new products and techniques. When this coffee addict is not travelling to teach or showcase her work she is hanging out with her partner Chris and three beautiful girls who are a huge source of inspiration. She hopes to inspire people all over to find and follow their bliss!! You can find her and her creative musings at www.peaberrydesigns.com.
